BEAUTIFUL SANTA
BARBARA.
DR. SANSON, WISE MAN.
MUST SEA GULLS DIE?

—By Arthur Brisbane—

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Feb. 1.—This is written in the Santa Barbara Biltmore hotel, at the edge of the Pacific. High mountains in the background, palms, live oak trees and flowers all along the level shore, and under your eyes, the ocean, as blue as the eyes of a Nordic baby stretches 7,000 miles across to Asia.

Hotel men from other parts should see this hotel idea, the newest. Many small houses, built in the Spanish mission style, around a main building.

You drive from Los Angeles, about 100 miles, in 2½ hours, over a magnificent, new and perfect road. It runs along the ocean's edge, mile after mile. The side of the mountain that comes down to the ocean's edge, had been cut away, leaving a straight wall, hundreds of feet high.

Entering Santa Barbara you say to yourself, that it must be about like this inside of St. Peter's gate. You have passed the oil wells, pumping off-shore in the Pacific, and heaven knows how much oil there is under that ocean floor. Submarine exploration may tell us.

Within Santa Barbara, commerce seems as far away as the antarctic. Girls drive big cars. Men strut in polo boots, well pleased with themselves.

And ducks, thousands of them, swim on the lagoon, built for bird protection and breeding, thanks to Senator Clark's daughter. She gave the money.

R. O. Gerald, member of California's game commission and owner of the Santa Barbara Morning Press, says sea gulls are the worst enemies of wild ducks and other wild life.

Congress, says he, should authorize and finance extermination of the millions of sea gulls in Alaska. A small bounty and the Eskimauks would kill them off quickly.

Sea gulls destroy the eggs and young of wild ducks in their northern breeding grounds, millions of them. They dive and devour the eggs of the salmon. Adult fish, near the spawning grounds, are seen floundering aimlessly in shallow water. Easily caught, they are found to be blind, both eyes picked out by gulls, not strong enough to lift the heavy salmon.

Congress should do something about that, with no "ifs." If the gulls can be spared from their work as scavengers for the sake of ducks and salmon.

And if it makes much difference whether gulls have the fun of eating the ducks as babies, or men have the fun of shooting them as full grown ducks.

Herbert Fleischacker, of San Francisco is here, looking, as usual, for something more to buy. He tells you that everything will be all right with business after two or three months of repentance. That until you have seen Delmonico, you have seen nothing.

Californians are like the Italians of Dante's time. Each thinks his principle the one spot worth while. The fact is that every mile on this coast has something that is to be found nowhere else all the way from the palms in the south to the giant fir trees and roaring mountain rivers in the north. It is all a land of wonder.

Cruiser Building Halted

RATIO REACHES POINT DECIDED IN CONFERENCE

England's Action Lauded By Delegates To Naval Meeting

FAILS TO IRON OUT OTHER DIFFICULTIES

Hoover, MacDonald Set Mark Reached By Curtailment

London, Feb. 1.—The British Admiralty has canceled plans for another 10,000-ton cruiser, it was learned today, thus bringing Great Britain's navy building program definitely down to 15 cruisers of that type in accordance with the agreement of President Hoover and Premier MacDonald.

This was revealed in a written reply of First Lord of the Admiralty A. V. Alexander to a question put to him in the house of commons as to exactly what Britain's navy building program was.

The 10,000 cruisers Surrey and Northumberland were definitely canceled the beginning of this week. The latest canceled cruiser was the only one authorized by the government upon which construction had not been begun. Britain now has eleven 10,000 cruisers in operation and four more under construction.

While the curtailment of Britain's cruiser building program was welcomed in conference circles today, it contributed nothing toward the solution of the principal problem now before the delegates to the five-power arms parity—the working out of a compromise between limitation by global tonnage or by categories.

As the majority of the chief delegates were enjoying their usual English week-end in the country, technical experts of the various delegations were busy studying the modified French proposal for global tonnage which was presented as a working basis for a compromise.

Preparations are now under way for opening session. The date will be announced soon.

During the past week searches have found personal effects of the fliers, including Borland's flying helmet, but have located no trace of the bodies.

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 1.—Arriving here today on his way to Fairbanks, Alaska, Ole Eielson, father of the missing Arctic flier, declared he fears his son's body was devoured by wild animals.

Total of 18,944 Volumes On Shelves Now; 1,163 Added Last Year

Record progress is reported made by the Salem public library during the year 1929 in the annual report of library activities submitted today by Miss Alice Gladden, librarian.

An increase in more than 5,000 was made in total circulation of the institution's books while more than 1,000 volumes were added during the year. General improvement work was made on the building while a children's room was prepared in the basement for juvenile reading and various activity work.

The library now has on its shelves a total of 18,944 volumes. A total of 1,163 were added during the year while 275 were withdrawn. Older books were kept in condition by mending and rebinding, 1,928 volumes being put through the remodeling process.

Circulation increases. The total circulation for the period amounted to 74,893. Miss Gladden stated, registering an increase of 5,113 over 1928.

The report was submitted by Miss Gladden to the library's board of trustees at its annual meeting. The board is composed of G. R. Deming, president; H. H. Sharp, vice-president; Mrs. W. H. Dunn, secretary and B. L. Flick, treasurer.

Lisbon, Feb. 1.—Clerk of Courts John A. Noble has just completed a Columbiana county divorce record for the federal bureau of census for 1929, and this shows that 143 decrees were granted.

The record shows that 99 of these decrees were granted wives and 33 were granted husbands.

In all of these cases 105 children were affected. Only 27 cases were contested and 106 went to trial without contest.

During the month of January, 1929, 17 divorces were granted by Judge W. F. Lones, and during the same month, Probate Judge Lodge Riddle issued but 27 marriage licenses.

Just 300 cases were placed on the appearance docket by Clerk Noble during January, a record month for the common pleas court in Columbiana county.

There were 288 civil cases placed on the civil docket, including a large number of tax lien foreclosure cases. Twelve cases were placed on the criminal docket.

Because of the activity in the clerk's office during January considerable clerical work had to be cared for during the evening hours.

TRIO CAPTURED SUSPECTED AS BANK ROBBERS

Murder Charges May Also Face Two Men and One Woman

Cleveland, Feb. 1.—Two men and a woman, suspected in connection with several middlewest bank hold-ups, were captured by eight squads of police in a "Little Hollywood" apartment house here today.

The arrests are believed to have been made on the basis of a "tip" furnished local police by Kansas City authorities.

Several revolvers and a large quantity of ammunition were found by police who broke into the apartment. The suspects were asleep at the time of the raid and they were taken without a chance to resist.

They gave their names as Lowell Foster, 34, Garrett Pettit, 22, and Louise Pettit, his wife.

Evidence that police here believed the suspects to be desperate characters was seen in the manner in which they conducted their raid.

Every member of the raiding party was heavily armed and wore bullet proof steel vests. Tear bombs were carried by the detectives who broke into the apartment.

Later information received by police authorities here indicated that the trio may be wanted for complicity in a murder in a western city.

DAMAGE CLAIMS MAY BE REVISED

Lisbon-Salem Road Takes On New Angle With Owner's Action

Lisbon, Feb. 1.—Although a total of $20,000 damages was asked by property owners as a result of the proposed improvement of the narrow brick section of the Salem-Lisbon road, and the fear that the road would be lost and a new one built in face of the damages listed with the county commissioners, these claims may be revised.

A survey of a new route into Salem from Lisbon has been asked to be made by the state highway department.

Herbert L. Bardo, who lives on this road, who filed a claim for $3,000 damages, has filed the following with the commissioners:

"I wish to revise my claim for damages to my land and property on account of the improvement of the Salem-Lisbon road. I agree to leave the amount of compensation and damages to the judgment of the county commissioners, and will accept what they think is a fair settlement."

Last Monday a delegation of Leontia people and farmers residing on the Lisbon-Franklin Square road asked the commissioners to improve the latter road through to Salem, the distance being but approximately one-half mile longer than the present traveled Lisbon-Salem highway.

Salem Favorite Place For Gaze Into "Future" Conditions

Salem harbors the most exclusive haunt, in this section of the state, for those who wish to gaze into the future, according to Rev. Frank G. Sayers of Youngstown.

Rev. Sayers, will tell the First Baptist congregation of Youngstown how professional and business men come to Salem and for two dollars may gaze into a teacup with the prognosticator and are told what is in store for them, according to the ideas of the fortune teller.

Investigations covering a six-weeks period were conducted by Rev. Sayers in fortune telling establishments in Salem, Youngstown and other nearby cities which results in his statement that superstition has a firm hold on many.

At the Youngstown establishments, which are "cheap," according to the minister, charging but one dollar for a comprehensive revelation of what the future holds in store, your horoscope is consulted or your birthday and zodiac sign are noted or possibly you are permitted to gaze into a crystal ball.

"The superstitious instincts of the uncouth Malay, the savage Fiji Islander, the wild Borneo man, and the barbaric native of the desert are still alive in most of us," Rev. Sayers states.

BANDITS LOOT BANK IN OHIO

Escape With Over $2,000 In Cash from Berlin Heights Concern

Berlin Heights, O., Feb. 1.—After locking two women employees into a back room, two "gentlemen" bandits leisurely looted the Berlin Heights bank here today and escaped with cash estimated at approximately $2,000.

The bandits, who were described as "good-looking youths, and well-dressed," fled out of town in a small blue or gray automobile, according to witnesses. They took a road leading either to Lorain or Elyria.

The women employees in the bank at the time of the holdup, which occurred at about 10 o'clock, are Ruth Bechem, assistant cashier, and Mrs. Mildred Groves, clerk. They told police that the two young men stepped into the bank and covered them with revolvers, forcing them into a rear room, after which they looted the cash drawers.

Clark L. Hines, cashier, had not arrived at the bank at the time of the holdup.

Persons who were passing the bank at the time of the holdup said they saw the two men emerge hastily from the bank and drive off in a small automobile which they described as "either blue or gray."

Washington, Feb. 1.—There is considerable unemployment in almost every state in the nation at the present time, Francis Jones, director of the United States employment service, testified before the house immigration committee Friday.

He declared that there is an over supply of labor in Texas, despite declarations that Mexican farm hands are necessary.

MEAGER REPORT TELLS OF LOSS OF MEN AT SEA

Cause of Disaster Still A Mystery; Vessel Radios News

SURVIVORS PICKED UP BY OIL TANKER

Boat Dispatched to Look For Others Who May Still Be Alive

Beaumont, Texas, Feb. 1.—Thirteen men, comprising the officers and crew of the tug Edgar F. Coney of Port Arthur, were lost when the tug sank in the Gulf of Mexico yesterday, meager radio advices received here today stated.

No intimation of what disaster overtook the tug was contained in messages received from the Standard Oil tanker, Liebre, which reported it was heading for Port Arthur with several survivors picked up at sea.

The Edgar F. Coney, owned by the Sabine Towing Co., left Port Arthur Tuesday morning for Mobile with a barge in tow. Twenty-four hours later the Liebre sighted the barge with a distress signal flying. From the rescued crew of the barge the fate of the tug was learned.

It was reported there were six officers and seven sailors on the tug, but the names of only four were known at the tug company headquarters. They were William Brennan, master; O. G. Pyle, chief engineer; O. R. Kenney, first mate, and R. Durio, steward. All have families at Port Arthur.

The tugboat Asher J. Hudson with a crew of 12, left Port Arthur last night to search the vicinity of the tragedy for possible survivors. Families of known members of the crew were notified by the Sabine company and told there was hope survivors might be found.

The Edgar F. Coney was 25 years old and recently was purchased by the Sabine company for $60,000 from J. P. Asher & Co., of Miami Fla. For many years it was used in Caribbean sea and Atlantic ocean coastwise trade.

ISLAND PEOPLE FACING FAMINE

Ice Formed Before Those Of Ohio Mainland Could Prepare

Sandusky, O., Feb. 1.—Determined efforts were being made today to provide relief to the ice-locked Lake Erie island region off the mainland here, which was reported to be facing a famine of both fuel and food.

Freezing weather locked the islands with dangerous ice floes last November before the winter's supplies could be laid in. Since then, there has been no opportunity to reach the islands except by airplane to provide relief.

Put-In-Bay, North and Middle Bass islands, according to reports, are running low on coal. Kelleys Island is said to be short of food supplies.

Airplanes have been pressed into service to fly necessary commodities to the stricken islands.

Several of the islands have been without communication since the winter weather set in. During a particularly heavy storm last December, telephone and telegraph cables running from two of the islands to the mainland were broken.

What Others Say

PLACING THE BLAME

Witnesses of late have been striking back at the Caraway committee of the senate investigating the activities of lobbyists. And to their own surprise they have not only lived to tell the tale but to receive the praise of their countrymen. The first witness who answered back is now himself a senator, Mr. Grundy. The second, Mr. Pike, a New York sugar broker, left the stand with an official but equally substantial honor. The third, Mrs. Jones, a press agent, stuck hard at a vulnerable spot which Mr. Pike neglected.

The points made by these two witnesses will bear consideration. They dealt with the now confirmed habit of congressional committees to seek private correspondence, even the most casual, and select for public disclosure those parts of it which seem best to suit their purposes. Mrs. Jones made her protest against this custom in its entirety, feeling that citizens not charged with criminal offenses should not be compelled to turn over their papers to political committees. With this position many Americans will agree. But Mr. Pike made an interior point which was instantly effective. For the effect of what he said was on the public. Accused of having "banded" the name of the president, because in private correspondence he had spoken of persons with "approaches" to Mr. Hoover, the witness seized the committee's artillery and turned it against his assailants. If there was any "banding," the committee had been guilty, because the references to the president became public property only through the committee's action in "goodcasting" them. If not discretion is used by the investigators in distinguishing between a press agent's boast or a lobbyist's scheme, and a real participation in these schemes by persons mentioned, the injustice involved comes from the indiscriminate action of the senate. If committees continue to seize fugitive memoranda and publish all their foolish contents as if they were state papers, innocent and important persons will be the victims. This will be the case unless, as Mrs. Jones predicted, the recklessness of the investigating committees finally induces lobbyists to "install incinerators instead of filing cabinets." Then what will senators who are candidates for reelection do for publicity material?—New York Times.

The Stars Say

For Sunday, February 2
Sunday's horoscope holds promise of active and intriguing conditions in affairs generally, but which may be attended by hazard as well as personal inharmonies, friction or deception. There may be ignominious obstacles to success but with matters persistently and diligently manipulated there is some promise of expansion, stability and financial satisfaction. Much will depend on personal acumen, patience and resolution.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of sudden and unplanned changes of importance, and while there is sign of progress and prosperity there is also financial peril, setback and obstacles, unless rigid effort, patience and good judgment be exercised. A child born on this day may be restless and unsettled and may have to wring its success from overcoming obstacles and by its own perseverance, application, and determined effort.

For Monday, February 3
The astrological forecast for this day holds probability of a sudden and unforeseen change with the accent on mystical, psychological or creative lines out of the ordinary. It is a favorable time for pushing these affairs constructively and making new contracts for their promotion.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year in which unusual interests may engage their attention or old matters may assume intriguing phases. But all should be practically poised with attention paid to avoid promotion of even spectacular or out-of-the-ordinary projects. A child born on this day may be endowed with talents and powers out of the usual run of mediocrity, and it may be entertaining and successful in promoting these advanced faculties.

TREAT YOUR STOMACH RIGHT, LET IT REST!

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
(United States Senator from New York)

If the stomach could think and tell us its story, it would be most interesting. I am sure it would move us to sympathy.

One of the things a stomach must resist is being kept always at work. After a heavy meal or a light one for that matter, the stomach needs a rest.

Much energy is consumed in digestion and the stomach has hard work to do. It takes time for digestion, also. In one person, the stomach may be emptied in three hours, and in another it takes five hours. After the digestion of one meal has been completed, before putting anything else into the stomach, give it a period of rest. When you finish a meal, consider it finished. Do not dump something more into the stomach in half an hour. Three or four hours, at least, should pass before additional food or a second meal is eaten.

If good sense could only govern our habits of eating, how much suffering we might save ourselves. We would live longer, too.

There is no end of ills which come from overeating and neglect of the digestive tract. Indigestion, dyspepsia, heartburn, bloating of the stomach, colic and other troubles, bring much suffering. Constipation is probably the most widespread of any ailment of man. Fermentation and auto-intoxication set up their poisons in the system to make us miserable. All these symptoms occur because we have mistreated our stomachs.

Nature is long suffering and forgiving. There is a limit to what it will endure. Diet is of paramount importance in keeping the stomach in good condition. Eat what you like if it happens to agree with you.

Those who have dyspepsia, or other minor troubles of the stomach, should eat sparingly of starches, sugars and fats.

Most dyspeptics can eat the green, fresh vegetables, toast, raw oysters, soft-boiled eggs, baked apples and prunes. Milk is also a food that can be taken by most people and nobody will ever starve if he can drink milk. It is the one perfect food for anyone.

Irregular eating, all sorts of emotional tendencies like fear, worry, anger and the like, tend to upset the stomach.

The stomach of a full-grown adult holds from two to three pints. Those who drink and eat to excess are almost sure to produce a dilation of this organ, it loses its natural shape and size. Then there is likely to be constant fermentation and much discomfort for the victim.

RESCUE OF MAN IN WATER TASK

Strong Current Resisted
Efforts of Divers To Remove Body

Quebec, Feb. 1.—A graphic description of the difficulties encountered in bringing the body of Peter Trans, ill-fated diver, who lost his life at the bottom of the Outarde river, to the surface was related by Lévis Bégin, expert rescue diver, who is back in Quebec today after several days at the scene of the tragedy.

"When I submerged to locate Trans the water was icy cold," said Bégin. "The current was exceptionally strong, between 22 and 23 miles an hour."

"I didn't take me long to find Trans. He was swept in 14 feet inside the coffee dam. In my opinion he lasted no longer than 20 minutes from the time he submerged."

"It took me 12 hours to get his body out of the water. I had to cut away a big part of the coffee dam. I had to tie a heavy rope around him so that the body could swing with the current during the rescue efforts."

"No man could be swept along by the current the way he was and be brought up flush against the base of the dam without sustaining fatal injuries. That is why I think he died so soon after he submerged."

Trans' body was under water 60 hours.

20-YEAR SEARCH ENDS IN ARREST

Man of Hundred Aliases
Arrested By Police
In Cincinnati

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 1.—A 20-year search for D. A. Wells, 60, of Pittsburg, Pa., had ended here today with his arrest by local detectives. Wells is known by a hundred aliases, police say.

Detectives of the American Bankers' association failed for 20 years to apprehend Wells, who allegedly victimized thousands of banks in Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and other states.

Wells was arrested after he had been placed under suspicion because he was inquiring about Cincinnati banks. Detectives took possession of his suitcase and a large package, which he had checked at a railroad station and found thousands of bank checks and check books of every description on hundreds of banks in five states.

A complete record of Wells' operations were also found. He had contrived a tediously exact schedule of his activities—the length of time it took him to go from a railroad station to certain banks in hundreds of cities the return, bus and railroad schedules, and other data which he used.

LIBRARY

The library which cannot be statistically reported. It is this service which really makes for a successful library.

"In measuring the progress of the library the book collection is a matter of importance. This library now has on its shelves 12,344 volumes, 1,163 having been added during the year. Two hundred seventy-five volumes were withdrawn, destroyed or lost. The collection is kept in good condition by mending and rebinding. Books mended and rebound totaled 1,928.

"That the addition of new books is justified is indicated by the total circulation of 74,893, an increase of 5,113 over 1929.

Building Improvements

"In July the interior walls of the library were all repainted and the woodwork cleaned thoroughly. Mullins radiator covers were placed on all radiators.

"Having a separate room for the children has given us the pleasure of doing individual work for them. The holidays are all observed by special displays and decorations appropriate for the day. Two splendid art exhibits from Miss Heckert's art students were shown in the room.

"Books were loaned to the freshmen camp and the crippled children's camp."

Reference Work

"One of the most important functions of the library is to assist students, professional men and women, business concerns, city officials, newspapers and others in definite research work in answering questions. The reference room is equipped with indexes to magazines, sets of books, collections of speeches, songs and poems, encyclopedias and dictionaries. Demands on this department vary to extremes.

"Mrs. Lease, who has charge of the reference work is constantly looking up material for speeches, sermons, debates and talks of all types. Club program material is ready several months in advance. Telephone calls are received continually for immediate information.

"It is quite impossible to keep an accurate account of all questions. A count was registered of 1,711 which required research. The public is using the reference department more and more for answer to puzzling questions.

"Over and over, in the history of libraries, it has been demonstrated that a collection of books, be it ever so fine, is of no value to the public without a satisfactory handling of same. To the staff of the Salem public library is due this year, the success and service so satisfactorily rendered."

Society Women In Court Following Spat Over Stocks

New York, Feb. 1.—How two prominent society women made faces at each other in public was revealed here today, following the dismissal of a disorderly conduct charge against Mrs. Dorothy Stuart Fargo, former wife of James C. Fargo, grandson of the express company founder.

The charge was made by Mrs. Florence Bennell of Syosset, Long Island, wife of Major Geoffrey Harper Bennell, British war aviator, broker, and grandson of John Harper, founder of the publishing house.

After they had quarreled over ownership of some stocks, when the women met in a cafe they made faces and sneered at each other, it was admitted. Mrs. Bennell said Mrs. Fargo slapped her but Mrs. Fargo said she "just covered her face with silly smiles" and denied the pugilistic charge.

REINSTATEMENT OF IOWA SEEN

Secret Meeting of Big 9
Officials May Bring Action, Belief

Chicago, Feb. 1.—Faculty representatives of the Big Nine universities gathered today for a secret meeting which, it is understood, was called for the purpose of reinstating the University of Iowa to Western conference membership.

Hurled out of the conference last May for recruiting and subsidizing its athletes, the Hawkeye school has since made strenuous efforts to correct the alleged evils which existed in its athletic system.

Iowa, unless restored to good standing in the conference, faces another investigation March 7 when the North Central Association of Colleges convenes, it is believed. There is to be no occasion for the latter if the faculty committee decides today to readmit the ousted school.

Although the so-called secret meeting was denied here several days ago, Prof. J. F. A. Pyre of Wisconsin finally admitted the discussion was to be held and named the time and place.

Professor Pyre refused to comment further, but the conclusion that Iowa is to be reinstated seems obvious. In view of last December's meeting at which it was definitely decided to send Iowa on its way alone, there obviously would be no reason for holding today's conference.

Sunday school, 9:45 (Matthew 6:1-43) J. A. Fehr, Supr.

It is interesting to observe what is placed at the head of the procession in life. To some, it's business, to others, it's pleasure, to some it's spirituality, to others it's fame and glory. The world offers us many an interest that demands first place in one's life. Do not forget that the Kingdom of God is waiting for a first place in your life and interests. It is worthy of your consideration.

COURT NEWS

Sues On Insurance

After the barn on the farm of the James H. Mackall estate was destroyed by wind March 6, 1929, the Township Line Mutual Protective association of Fox and East townships, Carroll county, denied payment of a loss of $2,000 as covered by a policy the estate held with the company, and as a result suit has now been brought to recover the amount of the policy.

The petition, filed by Attorneys George T. Farrell and Everett L. Lyon sets up that the loss to the estate was $3,500, but only $2,000 is sued for under the policy.

Steward McBane of East Liverpool, R. F. D. No. 1, is president of the association and Willet Boyd of Wellsville, R. F. D. No. 1 is secretary.

The plaintiff is now contributing $75 monthly toward the support of three minor children, the custody of which he seeks under court order in addition to a decree.

STYLE EDICTS

Paris, Feb. 1.—How short should a bathing suit be? Are two straps necessary or should there be fancy openwork on the sides? Will frontless, as well as backless, costumes be permitted for sun-bathing next summer, etc., etc.? These and other questions are being discussed on the Riviera beaches this winter preparing for a long hot summer ahead.

The mayor of Juan les Pins, popular winter and summer resort, has decided that the men must wear complete bathing suits and the women even more so, when they are sun as well as sea bathing. At Monte Carlo it is rumored that the standard bathing suit will be high in neck and long in the legs, as well as somewhat particular as to material for next season. The city of Nice is the most lenient and lets the bathers wear almost anything they like.

Lounging pajamas for beach wear will continue to have as heavy a run as heretofore, from all predictions. A new model which has recently been seen on a movie artist at Cap Antibes, popular cinema colony, comes in burgundy red crepe marocain, with the extremely wide trousers piped at the sides and caught into a fitted band round the ankles. The sleeves follow the same silhouette and make the short straight jacket very decorative. A tuck-in blouse of pink crepe remains, while a Frenchman would even dare to make this combination?—a worn with this striking suit.

High-heeled shoes made of the same material as the lounging robe will be chic for summer feet.

Rich red ostrich is used to trim the matching coat of a pajama suit of which the broad trousers are in pink satin.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By Jeannette Young Norton

There are days when one wants just a little for lunch—little to cook and little to serve. And yet appetite demands something with substance. A glass of milk and a crack-cup won't do. Nor the ubiquitous sandwich.

But a nourishing soup might fill the bill. Not a thin cup of bouillon of convenience, which are merely appetizers, anyway, and contain very little food value. But a thick soup, sufficient in itself to be a complete meal. On a cold day such a soup is appetizing, warming and healthy, and also if the right ingredients are chosen, will be as satisfying as some of the meat or other heavy dishes.

Chowders of fish, oysters, clams or a combination of all three with vegetables and potatoes, are made easily enough, and half an hour of preparation and cooking is all they require. The thick cream soups, with a basis of a cooked vegetable puree and milk, and thickening, may take longer. Purees of beans or peas are the most tasty of all the nourishing soups. However, since the dried legumes are used they have to be soaked the night before, then cooked for three or four hours.

However, these bean or pea soups are both wholesome and appetizing, and worth the trouble of their preparation. A large quantity can be cooked, enough for more than one meal. It won't be wasted!

Split Pea Soup
2 cups dried peas
4 quarts of water
1 onion
1 stalk celery
1 cup tomatoes (fresh or canned)
1 lb. salt pork, or 1 ham bone
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon pepper

Place the peas in a large saucepan, add the salt pork, or a ham bone. Let simmer for three hours, then add the onion, celery and tomato, and continue cooking another hour, strain through a fine sieve.

Melt the butter, add the flour and seasoning, and the peas puree, stirring constantly. Cook slowly for an hour half hour, and it is then ready to serve.

If the mixture is too thick, it can be thinned by adding some hot water. Or some scalded milk.

This soup can be served with croutons, or large pilot crackers. In the German restaurants where lentils are used more often than split peas, but cooked this way, the soup is frequently served with a few sections of frankfurter sausage floating on top instead of croutons.

Any kind of beans—limas, navy beans, pea, lentils, can be used.

Vegetable Chowder
2 cups canned corn
1 cup peas, cooked or canned
1 green pepper
1 onion
1 cup mushrooms
4 cups milk
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

Place the butter in a large saucepan, add the sliced onion, pepper and mushrooms, cut up. Cook a few minutes until tender, then add milk and flour mixed together, last the corn, peas and seasoning. Bring to the boiling point and serve at once.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

By Wanda Barton

"Did you ever see such a difference between two children?" Eva called attention to her charming little girl, when she regarded with a mixture of pride and despair. The younger of the two was obviously the moving spirit in their play. She suggested games, she managed to find interesting places to hide, and found her way about competently in the new house which they were both visiting.

The elder, a shy, serious child showed great devotion to the little sister whose lead she followed in a most un-sisterly way.

"It's usually the other way round with children," said Eva, "most of the women I know have a terrible time preventing the older child from bossing the younger too much. But my youngsters are so different."

Polly's a darling but she can't do a thing by herself, and Angela, who's two years younger is the most independent person I know. Really, she doesn't need anybody. She's been able to dress herself since she was two, and she can now fix her own little meals by herself, and she could be left alone for days and find her own amusement. Whereas Polly is forever asking help for everything from buttoning a dress to playing a childish game."

Sometimes there are such differences in temperament, but in this case the difference between the two children is due in large measure to outward circumstances. The elder child was handed like a live doll by her adoring mother who spent every minute of the day with her, watching her every motion and not letting the child do anything for herself. She might fall or scratch herself or sustain some other injury. Also they lived in a city flat full of beautiful new furnishings, and Eva was still in that fever of young housekeeping Monday. Premier Andre Tardieu of France is returning to Paris this afternoon, and will not be back until Tuesday or Wednesday of next week. All the delegates remaining in England are spending the week-end in the country at one place or another.

U. S. Market Crash Aids British Trade

London, Feb. 1.—Lennox B. Lee, president of the Federation of British Industries, believes that Britain will derive industrial advantage from the recent financial debacle in New York.

"The Wall Street collapse," he says, "is evidence that the United States has failed to establish New York as the financial centre of the world, and this augurs well for London, and the commerce of Great Britain, of which London is the financial centre."

"What is more, the reaction in the United States demand for gold for speculative purposes will cheapen money in England, thereby enabling British traders to secure financial assistance on favorable terms."

"On the whole there is every evidence that the liquidation in America will react to our advantage."

Murder Verdict Is Returned by Jury

New York, Feb. 1.—A jury today returned a verdict of guilty in the first degree in the case of Hyman Hirsch, charged with shooting to death Dr. Jacob Gross, on October 28, 1927, during a holdup in the latter's dentist office.

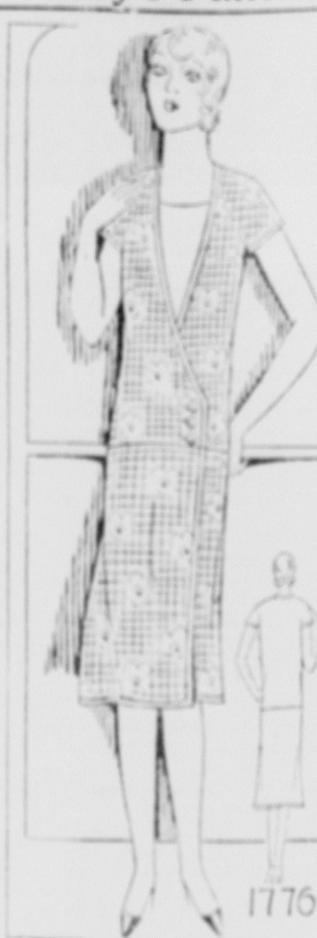

The jury deliberated 18 hours. Hirsch was remanded to the tombs and will be sentenced February 10.

BERT LYTEL AT WTAM

Bert Lytel, famous screen actor, will be heard over WTAM at 6 p. m. Sunday, appearing with John Henry Mears, noted for his race around the world against time, in the Ohio theater program.

TONIGHT'S FEATURES

Mary Brian and Richard Arlen are headlined on the Paramount-Public hour over the Columbia network at 10. Gene and Glenn are on at WTAM in an early morning program at 1 a. m. Sunday. Guy Lombardo's Canadian orchestra is on the Columbia chain at 11 p. m. B. A. Rolfe's Lucky Strike dance orchestra comes over the WEAF chain at 10. Rudy Vallee and his crooning voice, accompanied by his Connecticut Yankees appear at the NBC microphone at midnight.

NEW RADIO EXPERIMENT

In an attempt to find out exactly what type of programs radio listeners enjoy most, a "super-sensitive" multiple electrical stethoscope has been introduced by network impresarios. This new apparatus, it is said, determines the listener's reaction to a program by measuring his heart action. It will be tried first on a group of listeners in the New York studio of the Columbia network on February 6.

Claims made for the super-sensitive stethoscope are interesting. The device is described as simply a "new piece of medical apparatus as found in any of the most modernly equipped hospitals." Through it, scientists responsible for its invention contend, it has been discovered that followers of the clergy have a subdued craving for red-hot jazz tunes, actresses in reality enjoy more the beauties of Beethoven and Bach while many other incredulous revelations are reported.

Salem High Continues March Toward Sixth County Cage Title

30 SALEM HIGH GRIDDEERS HONORED AT RECOGNITION ASSEMBLY

East Palestine Cagers Drop Close Contest To Red And Black Tossers

Salem High symbolized its ambition towards a sixth consecutive Columbiana county championship basketball title, conquering the fast-stepping East Palestine High basketballers by a 24-22 score in the leading cage classic of the current season at the Red and Black gym Friday night.

With both teams inspired by the traditional rivalry which served as the background for the bitterly fought struggle, it was a battle to the finish, neither team boasting any clear advantage until Floyd Stone's lead stepped to the front by a three-point margin in the third quarter.

The victory marked the Red and Black's second triumph in county competition and leaves it with only two more games to be played before it can once again claim the honors which have been awarded to Salem scholastic teams so continuously during the past five years. Landon is playing here Feb. 7, and a return game will be played at Weirsville, Feb. 14.

With the first few minutes of play it was apparent that the battle between the two varsity squads, representatives of a friendly scholastic rivalry for more than 20 years was to be an eventful contest, replete with furia and action. The score was tied exactly eight times during the 32 minutes of sessions and not a soul in the entire throng which jammed the gymnasium to capacity was able to offer a conjecture as to who the victor was to be until the final seconds of play.

Palestine Scores First
First blood was drawn by East Palestine in its star speed merchant, Werz talking with a neatly placed shot from the side in the first 20 seconds of play. Whinnery fouled Smith a few moments before Werz basket, but Smith missed his free throw. A Brown and White forward was penalized for talking by Referee By Morgan and a gift toss was awarded to Captain Greenen.

Norm Early flipped the leather to Greenen on the center tipoff and the Salem skipper made a high pass to W. Smith who placed Salem ahead, 3-2 on an under-basket shot. W. Smith fouled VanFossan, rangy Palestine center, who tied the count. Trappell, attempting an easy sucker shot, was fouled by Sartick and was awarded two free throws, counting both efforts for the final markers of the quarter. Salem called a time-out.

Whinnery was on the receiving end of a flip from Greenen and ran the ball with a successful surge of the game on a short shot. Salem led, at this point, 24-18. Trappell scored a point shot after being fouled by Greenen and Smith added another when Greenen was penalized for holding him. The game was brought back to its nerve-jacking status when Werz was left unguarded and caged a shot from the free stripe, making the score 23-22. With a minute of play remaining, Salem's defense tightened and the Red and Black's offense was helpless for the remainder of the game.

Both teams tallied eight baskets from action but Salem traded eight points from fouls and Palestine gathered six via this route. The struggle was rough and tumble most of the way and full of sensations of the 10th degree. Summary:

Red And Black Lassies Nose Out Palestine In Thrilling Contest At Salem High Gym

Brown - White Maidens Drop 12-8 Decision In Preliminary

With both teams concentrating on strong defensive tactics, Salem High maidens proved superior in scoring ability under fire and vanquished East Palestine High lassies, 12-8 in a thriller at the Salem high gym Friday night. The game was played as a preliminary to the sensational boys varsity contest.

Close guarding of defensive players of both teams were leading factors of the fray for neither squad's forwards were left open for short, under basket efforts. It was the closest guarding affair seen in elementary competition here all season.

Lutsch Scores For Salem
Susan Lutsch tallied four points from action in the first quarter for Salem while Palestine was held to one fielder and a lead during the entire half. Captain Anna Zelle's fielder in the second session gave Salem a 6-3 lead at the half.

Palestine unseated its strongest defense of the game in the third period and held the Red and Black lassies scoreless while it garnered three markers to knot the count. M. Hall, star East Palestine guard, was sent to the showers for a combination of five fouls in the late part of the period, crippling the team's defensive strength. Three fouls by McMahon, girl-sized Brown and White forward, were tying points.

Connie Tice, who replaced Burt Odelshlager's sister, an 8-6 lead in the fourth quarter with a field goal. Cliff, who shot the leather through Salem's hoop on an underhand, one-arm shot to tie the score, but Ruth Jones gave Salem a one-point lead with a foul shot.

Zelle Clinches Verdict
Reech, Palestine captain, fouled Lutsch, who tallied the gift toss, adding a point to Salem's lead. Salem took time out after the play. Only two minutes of play remaining, play was furiously fast in the final minutes of play. Anna Zelle broke through in the last 30 seconds of action with a dribble under the basket to clinch the verdict.

FARM NOTES Items of Interest Taken From Ohio Rural Districts

OHIO FARM PRODUCTS SALES AND PRICES

Both the quantity of Ohio farm products sold and the prices of these products have increased since the pre-war period of 1910-1914, according to V. H. Wertz, of the department of rural economics of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

The price level of Ohio farm products for the four years, 1925-1928, averaged 45.5 per cent above the pre-war period of 1910-1914, and the quantity of goods sold averaged 10 per cent above the pre-war years. From these prices and sales, Dr. Wertz figures the gross cash income for the 1925-1928 period as 64 per cent greater than that of the pre-war period.

The quantity of products sold from Ohio farms increased from 100 in the pre-war period to 114 for 1915 to 1919, then fell to 114 for the next five-year period, and stood at 116 for the last period. The average for the last period was lower due to the poor corn crop in 1927 and short wheat crop in 1928, counting the gross income for the pre-war period as 100, that for the 5-year war period was 191; for the 1920-1924 period 169; and for 1925-1928 the gross income was 164.

Poultry and dairy products, according to Dr. Wertz's statement, have made the most favorable showing with respect to quantity of goods sold. The estimated average quantity of poultry and eggs sold from Ohio farms during the last four-year period was 45 per cent more than for the pre-war period. Dairy products were 45 per cent higher.

Tobacco made the least favorable showing in quantity sold. The average for 1925-1928 was 55 per cent less than for the five pre-war years. It is significant, Dr. Wertz says, that the increased quantity of products sold from Ohio farms came about coincident with a smaller amount of land in farms and fewer people engaged in Ohio agriculture.

Estimates Price For Corn Silage

Although corn silage is one of the leading feeds for cattle of all kinds and is used to some extent for other kinds of livestock, it does not enter into commerce to a sufficient extent to have a recognized market price. It is often necessary, however, when silage is sold to resort to a comparison of its feeding value with that of other feeds whose current market value is more readily determined.

Analyses, according to A. E. Perkins, associate in the dairy department of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, show that good corn silage contains approximately one-third as much nutrients as good mixed hay. Numerous feeding comparisons also show values for silage which average about one-third that of hay. Silage of high grain content will have a somewhat larger feeding value while that of low grain content will have a smaller feeding value than this average.

To use one-third the current price of good hay per ton as the price for silage would give a price range of from $3 to $16 per ton for silage, or to use one-third the average price of $15 to $20, for good mixed hay would result in a fairer and more definite price of $5 to $6.50 per ton for silage.

There is little or no loss of grain during the ensiling process so that a ton of silage should be worth at least as much as the amount of grain which it carries in addition to a reasonable allowance for the roughage. Data collected at the Experiment Station indicate that field-corn grown for silage may be expected to contain between four and five bushels of dry grain and about 900 pounds of other dry matter.

The price of 500 pounds of corn stover plus 4 1/2 bushels of shelled corn should thus give an average value for a ton of corn silage fair to all parties concerned. Under normal conditions this price will serve closely with that obtained by taking one-third the price of hay and is a fairer price for silage when hay is either abnormally low or high in price.

At The Grand

BEBE DANIELS IS AT THE GRAND IN "LOVE COMES ALONG". NEXT WEEK SHE PLAYS AT THE STATE IN FLO ZIEGELD'S GREAT PRODUCTION "RIO RITA".

Gay drama direct from the New York stage will be intermingled with the enthusiastic frolics of gay college students in screen features scheduled for showing here are such dramatic events as Bebe Daniels in "Rio Rita," "So This Is College" and "The Sophomore."

"Rio Rita" comes as the week's big feature and will be shown at the State four days, starting Monday, ending the week at that playhouse is Eddie Quilian in "The Sophomore."

The Grand starts off activities for the week with the production "The Battle of Paris," taken from Gotham's stage hit "On Kay." Then the scene reverts back to the college campus Thursday and the Grand shows Cliff "Ukulele Ike" Edwards, Sally Starr and Elliot Nugent in "So This Is College."

Paris, the city that never sleeps its fascination, is the background for "The Battle of Paris," just as the title indicates and its great success in Gotham stage development brings it out as an American hit.

John Boles and Dorothy Lee are co-starring in "Rio Rita" with Miss Daniels. It has proved a hit wherever produced on the screen and is expected to attract record-breaking throngs to the Salem playhouse. Boles first won great honors for his tenor voice in "The Desert Song," a production far inferior to "Rio Rita" but which nevertheless attained box office success simply because of Boles' performance in it.

Both "So This Is College" and "The Sophomore" are numbered as among the leading collegiate stories of the past year. Each has the thrill of football competition connected with the plot with excellent comedy adding to the vividness of the stories' themes.

"So This Is College" has as its central theme the story of two lads, friends for years, but whose friendship is shattered by the college wars. Years on the football team, the two become estranged and the team is as a result, faced with defeat in its crucial game. Comedy reigns as master of ceremonies during the entire vehicle and the outcome is appropriate.

College Comedy Featured

"The Sophomore" is ruled entirely by Quilian's comic collegiate gestures. First he works as a soda-jerk in a drug store then he becomes an actress, taking a leading part in a college play. Then he is a football star and was the game in one of the queerest football scenes ever portrayed on the screen. Songs, dancing, college stunts and all the glamour of the campus are portrayed.

"The Battle of Paris" takes its place on equal and probably higher rating than either of the college plays. Gertrude Lawrence and Charles Ruggles, the son of "Gentlemen of the Press" and "The Lady Lies" are cast in leading roles. It is starred presented in new comedy style and presents the lighter side of the World War. Friendship and fun in Paris cafes and behind the front are featured.

NO "REDUCTIONS"

With twenty years of experience in the manufacture of fine precision radio instruments, it would be easy for GREBE to produce a set to sell at a "reduced price." But GREBE is keeping faith with those to whom that name has become a symbol of uniformly high quality in every important characteristic of radio reception.

The GREBE models were fairly priced at the beginning of the season and are still fairly priced. A set of this quality cannot be made or sold for less. Neither GREBE prices nor GREBE quality will be reduced.
